DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Dragosh (6078886).

As per claims 1,10,14, Dragosh (6078886) teaches a method for processing speech audio in a client device (abstract) comprising:

“selecting a speech grammar....device” as selecting the grammar for the appropriate application (col. 4 lines 45-56);

“characterizing....grammar” as characterizing based on the application (col. 4 lines 58-61);

“based on the characterization.....server in the network” as downloading the grammar from the server if it is determined to be the grammar that is wanted (col. 5 lines 9-16, lines 30-50).

As per claims 2,15, Dragosh (6078886) teaches establishing a communication session and querying the speech server (col. 5 lines 27-45).

As per claims 3,16, Dragosh (6078886) teaches uploading the grammar (col. 5 lines 30-32).

As per claims 4,17, Dragosh (6078886) teaches registering the speech grammar (as loading the grammar with a returned handle (col. 5 lines 58-63).

As per claims 5-9, 11-13,19-22, Dragosh (6078886) teaches determination of the type/size of grammar needed,i.e., complexity, (a stored “canned” grammar, vs. a specialized grammar →col. 5 lines 32-37), determination of locations, including locally or remotely (either stored locally or at a specific URL – col. 5 lines 40-44).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 2/15/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. As per the arguments that Dragosh does not teach basing a location determination of speech recognition based on the characterization, examiner disagrees and points to Dragosh (col. 5 lines 4-66) wherein the type of grammar needed is determined, and then the location of the grammar itself is variable (chooseable -- col. 5 lines 45-55; and the type of format dictates the format of the speech and inherently dictates how much speech recognition processing is performed). Furthermore, Dragosh teaches the optionability of performing some of the speech recognition at the client to reduce bandwidth requirements and transmission times (col. 8 lines 40-54).

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
